ERRATA.

A third revision discloses the following errors. It would be well to make these corrections with a pen before using the volume.

• (50) Bard Bracy.—For Lockburn Sall, read Sockburn Sall.

• (550) Remus.—The reference should be Ajax (2946), instead of Brutus (100).

• (557) Rob Roy.—Same error as in (550).

• (2098) Hazlewood (3993), not (3933).

• (4014) Hercules.—For Major Dudd, read Major Rudd.

• (7755) Acaster.—The number of the sire is wrong, although according to original copy. It is more likely (8588), as that is the only Sir Philip in Vol. VII.

• (10466) Lord of the Manor.—The number of Young Rory O'More should be (10744), not (10764).

• (13934) Van.—Exquisite's number is (8048), not (8040).

• (14697) Hermit.—The dam is Duchess of Gloucester 5th—not "Duchess by Gloucester 5th."

• (16022) Fairservice.—Number of grandsire same as original copy, although wrong. The correct number is probably (7924), where the following pedigree occurs:

(7924) Consul.—Roan, calved Jan. 26, 1845, bred by Mr. Hutton, Gate Burton, got by Lictor (6128), d. Moss Rose, by Alamode (725),—by Childers (1824),—by Young Wyham Favourite (7734),—by Quaternion (1351),—by Rocket (1390),—by Waddingworth (668).

• (20576) Prince of Saxe Cobourg.—The number of Lord Ythan is (14858), not (14838).

• (23102) Vain Hope.—Bred by R. Booth.

• (28441) 2d Duke of Rowley.—7th Duke of Airdrie is number (23718), not (12718).

PREFACE.

TO BE CAREFULLY READ.

THIS reprint of bull pedigrees from Coates' English Short-horn Herd Book, supplies a great want to American Short-horn cattle breeders who have not the full volumes of that expensive work at command. There are not, probably, fifty full sets of that work in America, and in these pages will be found all the information which those volumes contain relating to the pedigrees of our American herds. The names and pedigrees of all the bulls recorded in its first four volumes, 6699 in number, are herein printed, together with some thousands of other bull pedigrees of the succeeding volumes, which relate to the genealogy of their American descendants recorded in all the volumes of the American Herd Book.

The names and pedigrees have been carefully compared with the originals, and it is believed that few or no errors of consequence will be found in them.

In the pedigrees of the first four volumes, a great majority will be found which have no relation whatever to American pedigrees, but, as they illustrate the material on which the original Short-horn pedigrees of England were founded, they will be peculiarly instructive to the American breeder.

The science of Short-horn breeding is now so far advanced in our country, that it has become an object, not only of curiosity, but of necessary information to a large number of our breeders, to trace their cattle pedigrees to the fountain head of their production. This work will be a perpetual guide in their future efforts, and may govern, in frequent cases, the selection of bulls for succeeding crosses.

It will be readily understood why a large majority of the bull pedigrees recorded in the English Herd Book have no direct relation to the American Short-horns. Many of them died young, before use; others were castrated, leaving no produce; many were sent, when young, to countries other than America; and numerous others were used only in Great Britain, and did not become at all connected with our own Short-horns; of course a reprint of these would be entirely unnecessary for American use.

In examining the pedigrees herein contained, it will be found that the very best blood, and the choicest selections from it, have been transferred from Great Britain to America, and not in that country or either of its colonies, can prouder or more aristocratic blood be found than now courses in the veins of many of our American Short-horns. A deeper study of the genealogy of our herds than many breeders have been able to obtain, can now be made by those who have this volume at command, and those herds have assumed such value and importance that a knowledge of their entire lineage is demanded by all who wish to attain the highest degree of excellence in their animals. This, therefore, will give them all the information needed in their investigations, and makes complete the American Short-horn Herd Book, to which it is really an addenda, so that our pedigrees can be traced as far as the English records of their ancestry extend.

To those not familiar with the early volumes of the English Herd Book, and who know not its lack of completeness in extending to almost time immemorial its lineage of the race, it may appear strange that so many short bull pedigrees are found in it; also that many hundreds of them contain but a single sire, or only a sire and grandsire, with no dam or grandam by name, or further reference; and that several hundred bulls are recorded by name only, with no pedigree whatever, or reference to any other recorded animal. But it must be remembered that the names of only a very few animals can be traced further back than a hundred and twenty years, and even the names of their breeders to a not much earlier date; yet every bull at the time of his record was considered a Short-horn, both by his breeder and the compiler of the Herd Book, unless otherwise noted, and by the Short-horn public was accepted as such. Following that basis, the descendants of such bulls, through Short-horn cows, have been admitted as belonging to the Short-horn family by the prevailing opinion of breeders. Yet among the early bulls of the English Herd Book, are found some even celebrated in their day (as some of their posterity are now), whose pedigrees trace into cows and bulls of other than Short-horn blood. Among the bulls recorded in Vol. 4, E. H. B., are two prominent ones early imported to the United States—Embassador (3711), a Hereford, and Rising Sun (6386), a Long-horn—and their descendants through Short-horn cows were also admitted to record in that and succeeding volumes; but being there admitted, and their descendants so recognized, they are entitled to successive registry so long as the English record is acknowledged authority. So remote, indeed, are those out-crosses, that their descendants now contain but a discernible fraction of the foreign blood, and their lineage will be criticised only by those whose standard of purity is of a transcendent order; and even to that class of critics, the experiment of tracing to their remotest sources some of the various unchallenged pedigrees in this work, may raise serious doubts whether their own most cherished ideas of perfection in pedigree may be altogether beyond cavil.

Although the English Herd Book contains all the known pedigrees which at the time it was thought necessary to record, it has only pedigrees, without any historical matter relating to their origin, or the men who bred their ancestors. Such information must be sought in other sources. No well authenticated history of the Short-horns has yet been written in England, the land of their ancestry, where, to solve all doubts, it should have been done, and that by indisputable authority. Failing in that country, an attempt at their history was made and published a few years ago by the undersigned, the value of which has been acknowledged by the best British authorities, and will be determined by those American breeders who have already consulted, or may hereafter consult its pages.

It may be also here stated that bulls and cows supposed on good authority to be Short-horns, have been imported from England to America, which have no record in the English Herd Book; but in its pages many of their descendants may be found, and as these descendants have been accepted as Short-horns by our own breeders, and also admitted as such in the English Herd Books, it is now too late to dispute their title to record, or rule them out of the Short-horn line. Their pedigrees must be taken at their estimated worth. Either the record or non-record of a pedigree in the English Herd Book, is not a positive proof of what the hypercritical call "purity" or "impurity" in blood. It is therefore sheer nonsense for any Herd Book whatever, under whatever name, either in England or America, to pretend to this so-called "purity" in its pedigrees: for, having adopted the Coates Herd Book as authority, it cannot consistently exclude the descendants of animals recorded in that work, even if they come under the ban of this "impurity."

Something further is necessary for a perfect understanding of the pedigrees in this work. Volumes one, two, three and four of the English Herd Book, in the last of which only bulls are given, also Volume five, embracing only cows, were edited and compiled by Mr. George Coates and his son, living at Carlton, near Pontefract, in the Valley of the Tees. The first two volumes, it is understood, were edited by the elder Mr. Coates, alone, and he dying after completing the second, the third, fourth and fifth volumes were completed by his son. The first Volume was published in the year 1822, the second in 1829, the third in 1836, and the fourth in 1843, the fifth, containing cows only, was published in the succeeding year, 1844—twenty-two years after the first. After the year 1844, Mr. Henry Strafford, of London, succeeded to the work and published the sixth Volume in 1846. He published the succeeding fourteen volumes at intervals of about two years, Volume twenty, the last, appearing in 1873, and bringing the number of recorded English bulls up to 32,898.

In 1846, the first three volumes of the original Coates' edition being exhausted by sales, Mr. Strafford issued a carefully revised edition of them, in which various errors were corrected. This American reprint of the first three Volumes is from Mr. Strafford's edition, and all the bulls contained in them, as well as in the fourth Volume of Coates' are herein embraced. In the fourth Volume (which Mr. Strafford did not reprint) some errors in American pedigrees I have corrected by notes. The remaining pedigrees of this work all follow the text of Mr. Strafford's Volumes, except where otherwise noted.

It will be observed that in a supplement to this work, the pedigrees or American numbers of several Canadian bulls are given. These bulls occurred with Canadian numbers only, in Vols. 9, 10, 11 and 12 A. H. B., and their pedigrees are given to complete the American pedigrees in those four volumes.

Vol. 5, E. H. B., has been omitted in this reprint because it is composed exclusively of cows.

In the later volumes of the English Herd Book, will be found the short pedigrees of some old bulls which were entered for the purpose of completing other pedigrees in such volumes. This class of pedigrees is designated by a star.

EXPLANATIONS.

This work should be widely circulated among American breeders, and in order to secure this large circulation by reducing its price, it has been brought into the smallest possible compass. In order to accomplish this, a few abbreviations have been necessary which require notice; but no pedigrees have been abbreviated, except in the following manner:

1. After giving their leading crosses, many pedigrees have been referred to other full ones of the same anterior genealogy. The inconvenience of turning to the reference pedigrees, will be less than that of handling more volumes with the pedigrees in full.

2. Some bulls have been noted as "full brothers" to others which have full pedigrees, and in such cases it will be understood that the pedigrees of both are exactly the same.

3. When a bull is recorded thus: "(11099) Alexander, 4," the pedigree is exactly the same in every particular both at number 4 in the American and number (11099) in the English Herd Book.

4. When a bull is recorded differently in the American and English Herd Books the point of difference is given as the English have it, the rest of the record, it will be understood, being the same as the American. Thus "(11499) Fusileer, 1584.—Calved Feb. 3, 1851." This indicates that Fusileer is given at 1584 exactly the same as at (11499), with the exception of the date of birth, which in the American may be different or entirely omitted. When the difference occurs well down in the pedigree, it is reprinted as the English have it.

5. It will be observed that the names of breeders of the female ancestry are frequently given in the English Herd Book, particularly the first four volumes. A few of these names have been omitted when they did not seem to serve any valuable purpose, but all those appended to the most remote, and many to the later female ancestors have been reprinted.

6. When a pedigree ends, like Bob (3180), thus: "by Northumberland (464),—Styford (629),—Bolingbroke (86)," it will be understood that the word "by" is omitted before the names of sires, by the editor of the original English work, and not through accident of the American printer.

7. If the dam of an animal reads thus: "Minna, by Cleveland, by Favourite (252),—Minerva, by—," &c., it indicates that Favourite is the sire of Cleveland, and not of Minna's dam; while if a dash were placed after "Cleveland" and before "by," it would indicate that Favourite was the sire of Minna's dam, and not of Cleveland. The omission of this dash is also chargeable to the English editor, and not the American printer.

8. The pedigrees of most of the breeding cows of the English Herd Book will here be found in the records of their male produce. In many of the early English pedigrees it will be seen that the immediate dams and remote female ancestry possessed no names at all, or if they had names known to their owners, such names were omitted in the record.
